Let's not incinerate

Thu May 31, 2007

To the editor:

I am not In favour of incineration.

The things we would be burning have already been shown to cause pollution. This extra air pollution would, I believe in the long run, cause our quality of life to diminish. Not only our quality of life but our health which in turn would put more of a strain on our health-care system, which we don't need. In an ecosystem, if something is taken out there is a domino effect throughout the entire system -- usually negative.

I believe the same can be true for adding something to this same system. Are we really willing to just roll the dice and hope what we do works or is it safe to say we, as a people, are now more educated than ever before.

My hat's off to Mayor Jim Abernethy. He didn't have to, but did pay for himself to go on a fact-finding trip.

This shows he really wants to do his job as mayor and be well-informed about projects that will impact his people.

In cases where there truly is work being done for the people of Clarington, I believe Mayor Abernethy should be refunded the money he spent, seeing as it is his job to know as much as possible about topics that will affect the people he represents.

As for Roger Anderson -- it looks good on him to be left out in the cold for once. If he had his way no one would be informed about anything until it was too late to do anything.
