Biosak problem must be addressed

Re: 'Biosak bags break down too quickly', letter to the editor, Times-Journal, May 14.

Thank you, Sean Moore, for bringing up the problem with the Biosaks. We also have had the bags biodegrade in the recycling container under the sink. Yes it is smelly and means constantly washing the container.

These bags are not user friendly, they cause more work and we all know, if this problem isn't addressed, in the long run people will just throw the peels, etc. in the garbage instead of putting them out for composting.

Durham Region must come up with a bag that doesn't decompose in less than a week.
